

Core Competencies

Most of the world lacks risk mapping and risk modeling tools essential to insure resilience. And where such tools exist, emerging risks and a changing climate are rendering them obsolete. Prisere LLC aims to fill that gap by building capacity for climate and disaster resilience with improved risk tools, including risk communications, risk mapping and software apps, technical training and consulting services.

Differentiators

Prisere LLC offers a unique combination of experience and empathy; our team has rare professional reinsurance experience offering deep risk management expertise matched with the personal experience of having each lived and worked through major disasters. Prisere's founder was in the World Trade Center on the morning of 9/11 when the planes struck the towers and was homeless for several months when her neighborhood was closed and evacuated by New York City authorities. Major news media rely on our expertise in disaster resilience.
